III. Section Three: Reading Comprehension (20 M)

Read the following text and choose (A), (B), or (C) for each of the questions following.

Is your mobile phone directory full of phone numbers of people you don't really want to talk to? Do you go out with people from work or university more often than with your real friends? Do you say yes to invitations because you think you should, not because you want to? If you answered yes to at least two of these questions, then perhaps it's time to 'edit your friends'.

Nowadays people tend to spend a lot of time socialising with colleagues at work or classmates at university. The result is that we don't have enough time to see our real, close friends. As our lives get busier it becomes more important to spend the little free time we have with people we really want to see, people we love and who really love us.

Who are the friends you need to edit? A few years ago, I read a book about how to get rid of unnecessary possessions. It said you should ask yourself about each thing you have: Is it useful? Do I really like it? Do I feel better every time I look at it? If the answer is no to any one of those questions, you should throw it away. Maybe we should ask similar questions about our friends.

What kind of friends will you probably need to edit? Sometimes it's an old friend. Somebody who you used to have a lot in common with, but who, when you meet now, you have very little or nothing to say to. Or it might be a new friend who you get on quite well with, but who is taking up too much of your time. Next time, when one of these people calls you and suggests a meeting, think, 'Do I really want to see this person?' and if the answer is no, say no, and make an excuse. That way you'll have more time to spend with your real friends

41. The kind of friends we probably need to 'edit' are...
A. old friends who don't talk very much.
B. new friends who talk too much.
C. friends that you don't want to see any more.
42. 'To have a lot in common' means...
A. to be completely different from a person.
B. to have a feature or characteristic which is shared.
C. to make contact with somebody.
43. The writer says that...
A. most of our friends are unnecessary.
B. we shouldn't treat friends as possessions.
C. we should ask ourselves who our real friends are.
44. The writer says that you can only have two or three close friends.
A. True B. False C. Doesn't say
45. 'Get rid of' means ...
A. become B. receive C. throw away
46. The word 'invitation' means...
A. a message refusing to accept something that is offered.
B. a request to be present in something.
C. knowing somebody little by little.
47. The word 'colleagues' means...
A. people you work with B. old friends C. relatives
48. The best title of the text could be...
A. A friend in need is a friend indeed!
B. How to keep in touch with an old friend?
C. Do you need to 'edit your friends'?
49. People need to 'edit' their friends if...
A. they have moved to a different area.
B. they are spending a lot of time with people who are not real friends.
C. all their friends are people from work or school.
50. People today are often very busy, so...
A. they should think carefully about how they should spend their free time.
B. they should see their friends less.
C. they should try to make friends with people from work / school
